Key Operational Findings

- 54.83% of order items are classified as late-delivery risk.
- First Class has the highest late-delivery risk at 95.32%, followed by Second Class at 76.63%.
- Late-risk items represent approximately $20.13M in sales exposure.
- Late-risk orders have only a modest profitability difference versus non-risk orders, so the primary concern is operational reliability rather than a large observed margin impact.
